BOOKLIST AGE CODES:

- 1 Ages 0-3 (Baby/Toddler/Young Preschooler)
- 2 Ages 3-5 (Older Preschooler)
- 3 Kindergarten – 2nd Grade (Early Elementary)
- 4 3rd Grade – 7th (Older Elementary/Preteen/Middle School)
- 5 Grades 8th – 12th (Teens/High School)

Books within each category are listed using these codes in suitability from youngest to oldest children. Some books are suitable for more than one age range and are listed with more than one age code.

NOTE: We have spent many hours going through these books. HOWEVER, that doesn't mean that we didn't miss something. Also, it takes your knowledge of your own children to discern the best, most appropriate books for them. Hope you enjoy these books!

A FEW, OTHER SPECIAL CODES:

★ A book new to the list this year

NC: Non-Christian Book

PC/AG: Presumes Conversion/Add the Gospel

Always be on the watch out for needing to add the gospel. We mainly chose Christian books that do NOT presume conversion and include the gospel. However, there were a few good books that we included, that were not Christian books, but had really great resources. Or, were Christian books, but did presume conversion and did NOT include the gospel.

Bibles

Note: Ordered from Easiest to Understand/Message Emphasis Translations to More Exact (and More Difficult) Translation

Note about Devotional Bibles for kids: Most of these presume the kids are believers already in the way they hold out God's truth to kids in the devotionals. Just be aware of this and you may want to talk to your kids about them from time to time, reminding them that these promises are for believers and how they can become believers (if they aren't yet), and that then, these promises are for them!

- 1,2,3,4 Las Buenas Nuevas de Dios (NLT) (with short devotional remarks by Billy Graham)
- 3,4 Meet Jesus in Mark: His Gospel in 25 Readings Matthew Sleeman
- 3,4 Follow Jesus with Peter: His Letter in 25 Readings Matthew Sleeman
- 3,4 Day by Day Bible Karyn Henley

An updated note on this book: This book has served many families well for a long time. But, it has just come to my attention that in the 10 Commandments Henley chose to simplify adultery to "only have sex with your husband or wife." Not only is that not all there is to adultery, but it can open up the door to conversations before parents want to cover that topic. I still love this book, but I wanted you to be aware of this. It might mean that you use it more as a read-aloud option since it really does a great job with simple language the kids can connect with. Or, you may decide to take the page out of the book, or just choose to have the discussion should it come up.

- 1,2,3 Beginner's Gospel Story Bible Kennedy, Jared STRONG CAUTION

I am leaving this book on here because it has a lot of merit. However, the wording of the gospel tie-in for most every story is such that it assumes the reader is one of God's people already by frequently exchanging sentences about God's people with "us" in the next sentence. I would NOT give this book to a family that is either young in the faith or who you hope to introduce to the gospel through a book. The language used automatically includes them as assumed partakers of gospel promises. This book is better used with solid, Christian parents who can remind the children about the gospel and how they can become one of God's people and the promises be for them. The same is true for the board books that have been made of individual stories from this book, and perhaps more so because of the title choices which are God Rose for Me, etc, without explaining how we can become Christians and for that to be true.

Individual Bible Stories

- ★ Dinner with the King: How King David's Invitation Shows Us God's Love Paul Tautges

I love this new book! Really, it's one of my favorites this year. However, one caution: the very last sentence of the book is a gospel call with a leading question: "What do you want to do about the king's invitation?" The problem with questions like that is that it can feel manipulative in evoking a certain answer from your kids rather than calling them to make a true commitment to follow God. I'm all for kids understanding the call and pray that they will. But, not to muddy the waters with kids' desiring to please parents and giving a verbal response that is not really coming from a heart change. So.... Be careful with how you use this last sentence.

1,2 Tim Thornborough Series:

- Esther and the Very Brave Plan
- Moses and the Very Big Rescue
- Jonah and the Very Big Fish
- ★ • God's Very Colorful Creation
- ★ • Joshua and the Very Strong City
- ★ • Joseph and the Very Strange Dreams

1,2,3 Stories from Jesus Series: Catherine MacKenzie

- The Good Shepherd: Luke 15: God Rejoices
- The Good Traveller
- The Wise and Foolish Servants
- The Wise and Foolish Builders
- The Wise and Foolish Bridesmaids
- The Noisy Neighbor
- The Wonderful Wedding
- The Precious Pearl
- The Busy Boys
- The Busy Housewife
- The Busy Farmer

Tales that Tell the Truth Series

Please be careful with this series. Look for language that presumes conversion. They also frequently use the expression "friend of God" as an easy-to-understand way to say "Christian". But they tend to only present gospel as believe, not repent and believe. I love the illustrations and so do kids. This is a great series to modify with your language or use to foster discussion. Many of these now available in a wonderful, new Spanish translation. Many are also available as board books, but sometimes lose key concepts in the process.

3,4 Adventures in Acts, Volume 1 and 2 David Luckman

There's much I like about this new series. The issues I did see are in his use of language in the "Think" sections. Sometimes, he pressurizes kids to make a decision for Christ in his wording, such as "How should you respond to the gospel of Jesus Christ?" Sometimes wording like this can lead to what seems like conversion, when it really is just giving the right answer. Be careful with questions like this. Yes, our hearts beat for our kids to become Christians.... But not create false conversion by leading questions.

★ 3,4 Adventures in the Gospels, Volume 1 and 2 David Luckman

This is coming out in November. If you liked the Acts series, you will like this series, too. Read above for issues I noticed that you might need to work around.

3,4 Kids' Bible Study Series

This series continues to expand. Do be on the look-out for presumptive language, especially with the Romans 8 and Colossians 3 Bible study, which is entirely based upon a section of comfort for believers, of which you kids may or may not be.

Seek and Find Bible Stories series: Sarah Parker (also available in Spanish)

Kids love to seek and find the objects in these books. Unfortunately, Parker does not always do the best job of appropriate application take-aways from the the stories in the small amount of text that comes with each story. I would be more hesitant to give this to a non-Christian family, but most kids aren't looking at this book for the text, but the pictures, which are just fine.

Catechisms

Just a reminder about catechisms... Catechisms were originally written for older youth/adults on the brink of baptism/membership. We have found the usefulness of them in teaching children and putting truth in their little hearts/minds for God to use for many years to come. But just remember: the catechism answers are true comfort for Christians. So, at least from time to time, ask your kids/tell your kids that these are the wonderful truths that God's people speak about God and their life with Him. Then, tell ask them/tell them how they can become God's people and these promises/words can be true for them, too.

Family Devotions

Devotional books are one of the most "presumptive" of conversion in their language. Perhaps, this is because they are speaking to a whole family, some of whom we do presume to be Christians. Be careful, especially looking at the prayers and the life applications. Modify wording as needed and add in questions about how these promises can be for us, by becoming God's people (turning away from our sins and trusting in Jesus as our Savior).

2,3 Where Is Wisdom? A treasure hunt through a wondrous World inspired by Job 28 Scott James

2,3,4 The Big Picture Family Devotional David R. Helm

Be careful. Does presume conversion in a number of places

2,3,(4) C Is For Christian: An A to Z Treasury of Who We Are in Christ Alistair Begg

As the title infers, this is who Christians are. The language is definitely presumptive, but he does such a great job explaining big truths, simply (adopted, redeemed, etc) that it is worth working with.

3,4,5 Discipleship for Kids Rebecca Ruybalid Stone

Definitely presumes the child is saved and is seeking to know and grow in the Lord. One of the best books I've seen that really helps kids understand how to begin the life of a disciple of Christ. Published by Navigators and you can see their typical deliberateness in its approach.

★ 2,3,(4) Fruit of the Spirit Tales: Costi and Christyne Hinn

- The King Who Found His Self-Control
- The Farmer Who Chose to Plant Kindness

This is a fantastic new series. It's the first time I've ever seen the fruit of the Spirit tied to conversion, instead of improperly just held up as character development. There is a difference, and especially with kids, it is not differentiated well. Galatians is written to Christians!

2,3,4 PC/AG God, I Need to Talk to You Series: (these are also in Spanish) can be moralistic, but useful; not much on the market like this. Could be good discussion starters

3,4,5 Life as a Christian: a Primer for New Believers Mary Wiley (Gospel Project)

Another new favorite of mine. Super inexpensive and VERY thorough from how to become a Christian to how to live as a Christian. There is language that presumes conversion, but that's who it's for. And be aware: urges child to be immediately baptized at the very end of the book. (that is my only hesitancy, and such a great book, I'd make it a topic of conversation with the child, as to why your church might wait (like ours does) for a child to grow older before baptizing.

- 1,2,3 Twas the Evening of Christmas Glenys Nellist

This is a retelling of the first Christmas in the style and rhyme scheme of Twas the Night Before Christmas. It is well done and with beautiful pictures. Two notes: while she clearly says Jesus is the Son of God in one place, she calls Mary and Joseph, mama and papa in another. I'd just change the langue to Mary and Joseph. Also, she does the classic thing of having the wisemen come on the same night as the shepherd. I'm hoping to "repair" the language in a few places and use this as an outreach to my neighborhood. Also, her Easter book in the same style is good, but I didn't like her Lent and Advent books which included more of her own thoughts and did not think them as on target.

Definitely more of a PG level of excitement. Use with elementary/middle school age children. They are very good at helping the children see the birth of Jesus through different eyes. (But some of the devotion reflections at the end of each chapter need to be edited or skipped.... but the stories are so good, even without the devotionals.) Helping Kids with Anxiety and Other Common Biblical Counseling Issues

Books in this category are especially prone to give children God's promises to hold on to in ways that are true only for believers. You can you kids by adding your own words/questions to the text that makes it clear how these beautiful promises can be for them, when they turn away from their sins and trust in Jesus as their Savior.

1,2 You Count Champ Thornton (board book on calming emotions)

Books on counting yourself to calm are HUGE this year. This one is the best I've seen among the Christian versions.

1,2,3,4,5 Caring for the Souls of Children: A Biblical Counselor's Manual Amy Baker

2,3 The Abigail Series Bethany McIlrath

This is a fiction series about a girl who presumes to be a Christian and desires to live for God. Each story presents Abigail in a particular situation she is trying to understand how to live for God. I like this series.

- Abigail and the Career Day Catastrophe
- Abigail and the Big Start Over
- Abigail Gets Left Out
- ★ • Abigail and the Christmas Contest (comes out closer to Christmas)

★ 2,3 PC/AG Left Out: Believing My Story Is for God's Glory Jill Atogwe

I am including this book because there is so little on the market that comes close to encouraging children with "differences" in a way that makes God's glory the point. She definitely presumes the child is a Christian in her use of Scripture and what it means to the child she is speaking to in her book. Make sure to add the gospel.

2,3 Christina Fox Series (Christian Focus)

I have hesitations about this series. She tends to hold out promises to the kids in the story without clearly explaining that these are God's promises to His people. The children in the story, you have to assume, are Christians, and you are listening in on a conversation between Christians. Probably the best thing to do is to make that clear to your children at some point in reading the story. HOWEVER, there are very few books available on these topics currently. And, if you modify the language/add the gospel, there's much good to get from them. I would say these are better used only in strong Christian families who understand and can make changes/have good discussions with their children about the content.

God Hears Your Heart: Helping Kids Pray about Hard Emotions

(She unfortunately uses the phrase "church member" for a child just because they attend church. I think she means the child is attending church and is used to hearing the gospel and knows how God wants His people to live. There's still good language in here. But modifications will be needed.)

The Great, Big Sad (On grieving and death) The children in the story are definitely receiving comfort that is for Christians. Need to add the gospel. But, very little out there on this topic, and she does use a lot of good language.

2,3 Give Your Worries to God Sally Michael

This book that points kids to not worry because of who God is but it does NOT presume conversion. It also has great tips for Christian parents in how to use books with their children to continue to hold out God's truth and point them to Christ.

2,3 The Moon Is Always Round Jonathan Gibson

★ 2,3 PG/AC Something Happened Series Darby A. Strickland

- Something Sad Happened (death)
- Something Scary Happened (fear)

These are classic New Growth Press publications, in the CCEF Scripture to comfort and counsel kids category. They do a good job describing common, difficult struggles of kids and apply Scripture to them. However, like the other CCEF books for kids, they tend to presume the child is converted by their choice of Scriptures (which are for believers). I've been told that the questions in the back have been a great springboard for conversations with kids. Use with care and add in the gospel.

2,3 Teaching Children to Use Their Words Wisely series by Ginger Hubbard and Al Roland

I love this series because in each book, the Christian parents are seen doing the same sin as the kids are struggling with. The parents confess, repent and pray about these things, leaving a wonderful example of how believers struggle with sin, but are living a life of turning away from it. How very true to life this is!

Chloe and the Closet of Secrets: a book about lying

Sam and the Sticky Situation: a word about whining

Shawn and His Amazing Shrinking Sister: A book about teasing

2,3 When I Am Afraid Sally Michaels

★ Who Are You?: A Little Book about Your Big Identity Christina Fox

The book is fine, but the rhyming scheme is pretty bad. Takes a long time getting to its one point in the book. Still, might be helpful to some.

★ 2.3.4 Created with Emotions Aubrey Coleman

Does a great job explaining different emotions, how they are part of God's good plan, but also how they are impacted by the Fall. Talks about God's emotions and the similarities and differences between His and ours. Slightly presumptive that the child is converted in a few places, but very good on the whole. Far better than anything else I've seen.

PC/AG 2,3,4 Good News for Little Heart Series: (CCEF)

This series is very popular and meets an important need. BUT, you especially need careful attention to wording that holds out promises to all kids that are only for Christians. Read carefully and add gospel language. Here are some of the titles in this ever-growing series:

- Zoe's Hiding Place: When You Are Anxious David Powlison
- Jax's Tail Twitches: When You Are Angry David Powlison
- Buster's Ears Trip Him Up: When You Fail Ed Welch
- Tori Comes Out of Her Shell: When You Are Lonely Jayne V. Clark
- Henry Says Good-bye: When You Are Sad Edward T. Welch
- Gus Loses His Grip: When You Want Something Too Much David Powlison

- Halle Takes a Stand: When You Want to Fit In Paul David Tripp
- Gwen Tells Tales: When It's Hard to Tell the Truth Edward Welch
- Tomas Looks Up and Out J. Alasdair Grodes

2,3 4 Nugget and the Refiner Kerry Tittle

Presumes Conversion/Add Gospel This book is about how God uses trials in the lives of His people to change them. It is a helpful story that parents can use to share how they have seen God use trials to change them. And this testimony can be helpful to children seeking to make sense of suffering, themselves, as you hold out the gospel to them.

2,3,4 When Someone You Know Dies Day One Publishing

One of the few resources on death that does a great job with the gospel and many of the hard questions kids ask and we try to answer.

2,3,4,5 CCEF Booklets:

- Helping Children with Shame: Resting in God's Approval Ed Welch
- Children and Divorce: Helping When Life Interrupts Amy Baker
- Angry Children

2,3,4,5 How to Help Your Anxious Teen: Discovering the Surprising Sources of Their Worries and Fears by Jessica Thompson The title makes you think this is only for helping your teenager, but the ideas presented GREAT for parents with kids of all ages. This book is targeted at helping parents identify ways that they/the culture/even the ways churches talk to kids can actually add to their anxiety and in ways you might not realize. This book is a favorite!

2,3,4,5 When Your Child Is Grieving: God's hope and wisdom for the journey towards healing Amy E. Ford

Note: There are so few books out there on understanding the grieving process of children, which is different from that of adults. Amy Ford gives helpful insights into this process and words to use with your child. There are a few places where she uses language regarding "our anointing" to help our grieving child. I think she is meaning that God equips us with what we need to care for our children in their need.

3,4 FaceTime: Your Identity in a Selfie World Kristen Hatton Presumes conversion, add gospel

3,4 Social Media Pressure: Finding Peace Alongside Jesus John Perritt Presumes conversion, add gospel

(3), 4,5 PC/AG Chris Morphey Series:

- Who Am I and Why Do I matter?
- How Can I Be Sure What's Right and Wrong?
- Is Christianity Really True?

- What Happens When We Die?
- And others

There is much about this series that I like. Morphew has a great way of speaking to kids. However, he does presume conversion in a number of places. Still, there's not a lot on the market that covers these issues as well as these books.

The Holcomb Books:

Be careful with this series. I include these because there is not much out on the market yet. But you will need to shape the Holcomb books. Clarify the gospel.

2,3 God Made Babies: Helping Parents Answer the Baby Question Justin S. and Lindsey A Holcomb

2,3,4 God Made Me in His Image: helping children appreciate their bodies Justin Holcomb Presumes Conversion/Add Gospel

2,3,4 Rewriting Gender? You, Your Family, Transgenderism, and the Gospel David Martin

A few of the prayers presume conversion but this is one of the best books I've found for giving language to talk to kids about this issue. Especially younger kids have a tendency to "parrot" what we say and that can lead to some unintentional confusion and pain as they talk with other kids in a way that lacks the nuance needed in helping those with gender struggles, the children of parents of the same sex, etc. This book focuses on building compassion in our children, while speaking of the brokenness of sin. It may not be all the conversation that needs to take place, but it is a good, relation-building start that may lead to closer friendships and more opportunity with this growing, needy population in our culture.

2,3,4 Why Did God Make Me a Boy? Joe and Abby Owen (Answers in Genesis) (might be a little young for late elementary to read, but may be helpful to YOU in talking to that age group)

2,3,4 Why Did God Make Me a Girl? Abby and Joe Owen (Answers in Genesis)

YES, BUT...

God's Design for Sex Series: Brenna and Stan Jones

- 2,3,4 The Story of Me
- 3,4 Before I Was Born
- 4,5 What's the Big Deal
- 4,5 Facing the Facts

Note on this series: This is a series from decades ago that in some ways has not transitioned to gender language that more clarifying for these gender-confused days. (It wasn't a problem at the time it was written). It is theologically weak in places. However, for many years it was the best resource we had to work with. It does have helpful language in explaining/describing physiologically changes, etc. Many have found it helpful over the past 20 years. We are leaving it on the list so in case you know of this series and want to be able to reference it or have used it and might be helped by this critique of it. It may have a suitable place for your use with your kids.

HOWEVER, there is a new series that seems to be more updated for the culture shifts we face. A number of families are finding it more helpful. You will find this new series below: Learning about Sex Series.

Babies/Toddlers

NC Secrets of the Baby Whisperer Tracy Hogg

NC CAREFUL Secrets of the Baby Whisperer for Toddlers Tracy Hogg

This secular book has some great ideas for communicating with your child. However, as you might expect, it has no place for spanking. Use it as a helpful side resource that supplements (but does not replace) Christian books on parenting.

First Time Dad: The Stuff You Really Need to Know by John Fuller and Paul Batura

Engaging Motherhood: Heart Preparation for a Holy Calling by Holly Mackle

NC New First Three Years of Life: Completely Revised and Updated Burton L. White

This secular book is based on Dr. White's 37 years of actual observation and research of the developmental stages children 0 to 3 years go through. He gives very commonsense tips everything from best toys to buy to dealing with many common issues parents face with their child. Interestingly, Dr. White's observations about what works best with children echoes much of biblical wisdom. Use it in combination with other Christian books on parenting.

Preschool

NC CAREFUL How to Talk so Little Kids Will Listen: A Survival Guide to Life with Children Ages 2-7 by Joanna Faber

This secular book has some great ideas for communicating with your child. Use it as a helpful side resource that supplements (but does not replace) Christian books on parenting.

Grade School

NC CAREFUL How to Talk So Kids Will Listen & Listen So Kids Will Talk Adele and Joanna Faber

This secular book has some great ideas for communicating with your child. However, as you might expect, it has no place for spanking. Use it as a helpful side resource that supplements (but does not replace) Christian books on parenting.

CAREFUL Parenting with Love and Logic: Teaching Children Responsibility Foster Cline and Jim Fay

This pseudo-Christian book has some great ideas for using consequences to help build responsibility with your child, but is lacking in other areas. Use only as a helpful side resource that supplements (but does not replace) Christian books on parenting.

Pre-Teens

Between Us Girls Trish Donohue (go through it with mother/mentor)

Things I Wish I'd Known Before My Child Became a Teenager Gary Chapman

I liked what I read. He does reference a lot of outside resources at the end of each chapter. I did not investigate those resources, so that will be up to you to look into those. But I did find his advice very insightful.

- Help! My Teen Is Rebellious Dave and Judi Coats
- And many others

How to Help Your Anxious Teen: Discovering the Surprising Sources of Their Worries and Fears by Jessica Thompson (Says it's for helping your teenager, but the ideas presented GREAT for parents with kids of all ages. This book is targeted at helping parents identify ways that they/the culture/even the ways churches talk to kids can actually add to their anxiety and in ways you might not realize. This book is a favorite!)

Parenting Adolescents Kevin Huggins

CAREFUL Parenting Teens with Love and Logic: Teaching Children Responsibility Foster Cline and Jim Fay This pseudo-Christian book has some great ideas for using consequences to help build responsibility with your child, but is lacking in other areas. Use only as a helpful side resource that supplements (but does not replace) Christian books on parenting.

NC The Teenage Brain: A Neuroscientist's Survival Guide to Raising Adolescents and Young Adults

by Frances E Jensen Super interesting information. Written by a non-Christian, but some helpful insights that may enhance your understanding and parenting of your teens well into their 20's!

NC Brainstorm: The Power and the Purpose of the Teenage Brain Siegel MD, Daniel
Written by a non-Christian, but some helpful insights that may enhance your understanding and parenting of your teens well into their 20's!

College Age Teens and Up

Letters to My Daughters: The Art of Being a Wife Hardcover by Barbara Rainey (for wives and for reading themselves, and for talking to their daughters about aspects of marriage. Also could be great as a gift to their about-to-be-married daughters.

By the Hughes:

- Disciplines of a Godly Family Kent and Barbara Hughes
- Disciplines of a Godly Woman Man Kent Hughes
- Disciplines of a Godly Man Kent Hughes
- Disciplines of a Godly Young Man Kent and Carey (son) Hughes

By James Dobson:

- Bringing Up Boys
- Bringing Up Girls: Practical Advice and Encouragement for Those Shaping the Next Generation of Women
- The New Strong-Willed Child
- The New Dare to Discipline
- The New Strong-Willed Child Workbook

Note on Dobson: These are included as helpful resources alongside other, more recent "gospel-centered" parenting resources. Dobson has some great tips, especially on disciplining children that do not grow old.

Family Vocation: God's Calling in Marriage, Parenting, and Childhood Veith, Gene Edward, Jr.; Moerbe, Mary J.

Gospel-Centred Family: Becoming the Parents God Wants You to Be Ed Moll, Tim Chester GBC

What Is a Family? Edith Schaeffer

Your Child's Profession of Faith Dennis Gundersen

CAREFUL You Can't Make Me (But I Can Be Persuaded) Strategies for Bringing Out the Best in Your Strong-Willed Child Cynthia Ulrich Tobias

This book is GREAT for getting ideas for all of the skirmishes you have with your strong-willed child that are not the hills you die on. If you have a very strong-willed child, it can be discouraging to both you and them at how constantly their behavior needs addressing. This book is so good at helping you understand the "trip wires" for these kids and how to phrase many statements to make it easier for them to obey you. Don't make it your only book, but make it an arrow in your quiver.

2,3 I See Jesus Nancy Guthrie

★ 2,3 Pippa and the Singing Tree: Joining the Song of All Creation Kristyn Getty

2,3 Sophie and the Heidelberg Cat Andrew Wilson

2,3 Tales that Tell the Truth Series Good Book Company

Please be careful with this series. Look for language that presumes conversion. Uses "friend of God" as an easy-to-understand way to say Christian. Can tend to only present gospel as "believe" but no idea of repentance. Love the illustrations and so do kids. This is a great series to modify with your language or foster discussion. Many of these now available in a wonderful, new Spanish translation. Many also available as board books, but sometimes lose key concepts in the process.

- A companion parent guide (Cornerstones: 200 Questions and Answers to Teach Truth) is also available.
- ★ 3,4,5 Thinking about God Alex Early
- He does a great job of explaining big words/big truths about God in simple language. Kids of many ages (not to mention adults) will find this book useful. It is geared to be read by late elementary school age kids and up, but you could glean language to use with even younger children.
- 4,5 The Gospel Made Clear to Children Jennifer Adams (Unfortunate title. This book is more appropriate for middle school/high school. Sort of like a little systematic theology.
